Winter Assembly 2024

Alexa Brito

Everything we enjoy about the holidays, condensed into a 30-minute session, is the annual Winter Assembly hosted by your Associated Student Body (ASB).

The assembly consisted of performances from JROTC presentation of the colors, Band performing the National Anthem, Choir presenting the Alma Mater, Rosalyn Parra performing “Mistletoe” by Justin Bieber, Oscar Aguilar performing “Let It Snow!” By Frank Sinatra, Cheer, Winter Guard, Hip-Hop, and K-Pop. Along with the performances, ASB curated a skit including a blend of characters from beloved Christmas movies and iconic celebrities: Grinch played by Janesse Vu, Jack Skellington played by Jose Cabello, Frosty played by Camila Martinez, Buddy from Elf played by Oscar Torres, Cindy Lou Who played by Nicole Geminiano, Elf played by Mia Contreras, Mrs. Claus played by Julia Quinto, Santa Claus played by Natalie Pineda-Ruiz, and Mariah Carey played by Zoe Marquina. The assemblies ran smoothly thanks to the Pep Commissioner, Karlee Obregon. The 4 different committees, Spirit, Skit, Decor, and Posters were created by the President and Vice President of the Junior Class, Amanda Robles and Diego Santos. Once the skit is completed, the parts have been chosen, the characters have recorded their lines, and the recordings have been made. The effort made on the day of the assembly demonstrates how devoted and involved our ASB performers were by their ability to stay in character. The occasion was festive and exuded a sense of community coming together to enjoy the holidays, in addition to honoring the winter sports players in the center of the stage. A moment of grace was shared by our winter-guard performance. Finally, a way to formally end the assembly was a dance performance by our very own ASB members—yes they can dance too! As the event concluded, it was a moment to share the excitement and experience with friends and family.

OCC FIELD TRIP /

ALYSSA MULDONG

The Magnolia Agriscience Community Center (MACC club) was offered a partnership tour with Orange Coast College's (OCC) horticulture pathway. 31 students involved in the works of the MACC club were invited to participate in the engaging event consisting of juniors and seniors.

At the arrival of the OCC campus, students learned about various career opportunities and certificate programs offered within their college campus.

Once the designated tour guide arrived, the MACC students experienced a complete exploration of the greenhouse aquaponics systems and the horticulture pathway. The Horticulture pathway is known to focus on hands-on job training and the education to achieve a certification or an associates degree.

After learning about the Horticulture pathway, for the rest of the day MACC were surprised to explore through the OCC campus grounds. Students ventured by their Astronomy, Business, and Sciences buildings. In the midst of the campus holds their library, which proved to offer an unique experience with its integrated mini aquarium, offering students a serene study environment surrounded by various species of fish and even sharks.

OCC offers housing opportunities available on campus. OCC is the only community college in California that has on campus housing.

After the day at the OCC campus, many students became interested in the college and gathered takeaways centered on the college's commitment to modernity, practical learning, and a vibrant campus culture.

CYBER BUILDING UPDATE / ALYSSA MULDONG

As you have seen in front of Magnolia High's campus, there's a building that is underway and increasing its preparation for the launch of our cyber building in May 2024! In the upcoming school year, the Cyber Building will be ready to go and accessible to all students and staff. The implementation of this new building will enhance the room capacity, office space, and classrooms specifically designed for the Cybersecurity Exclusive Pathway. Teachers, mentors, and cyber students will be able dive deeper and acquire more practical expertise in the cybersecurity and computer science fields for their future workplace.

The Planning of the Cyber Building:

The cyber building was planned out with the awareness of Superintendent Michael Matsuda and the Program Coordinators of the Cybersecurity Program, Mrs. Keledjian and Mr. Derbish. As cybersecurity is gaining recognition and there is an exponential increase in student interest, it has been acknowledged that we need a space to fully realize the potential of this pathway. The new building is planned to offer high school students computer labs and five dedicated classrooms for the cybersecurity program. Additionally, a new look at the campus will be implemented with a color scheme that has already started with the band and choir rooms. The new addition to the campus will allow the cyber students to have more spacious learning environments and the access needed to start preparing themselves for college and career readiness.

Mr. Derbish, a teacher who teaches Cyber Literacy 1 and Cyber Innovations, expresses gratitude and excitement for what lies ahead for him and his future and current students. He shares, "I am truly excited about the new building and all that it is going to have for our students. Their ability to collaborate with other classrooms and their ability to have more hands-on training. Having workrooms to store all the materials is going to make the classroom seem less cluttered and have more space for students to collaborate and work in a structured setting." And with that, an extensive number of involved individuals are eager to experience the new cast of Magnolia's campus and see what the future holds in store.

MHS ALUMNI:

ANAHEIM COUNCILMAN CARLOS A. LEON /

CHRISTINA HIPOLITO

Magnolia High School is the alma mater of many great people in our community, and Carlos A. Leon is no exception. A former Sentinel and proud of his community, he serves as a member of council for Anaheim, working alongside Mayor Ashleigh Aitken, the first female mayor in Anaheim's history. He represents District 2, where Magnolia and the rest of our community resides.

Councilman Leon was elected in November 2022, but has been serving his community since before he was given a seat on the council. While in high school, he was a member of the Magnolia Sentinel Band as a drum major, and was also in the Santa Ana Winds Youth Band. He was also part of Anaheim Community Service's VolunTEEN program, an opportunity for teens to volunteer for numerous roles across various summer programs in Anaheim.

While on a field trip in November 2023, some fellow classmates and I got the opportunity to meet him in City Hall. We had originally been at a workshop (part of a series of career readiness workshops, which are very beneficial) with Anaheim Public Utilities, but we were waiting for the bus to arrive. Our chaperone, Mr. Ake, surprised us with an in-person meeting with his former student in the Council Chambers. He explained his role on the council to us, as well as how the council meetings and hearings work. In addition to getting to meet him, we were allowed the chance to actually enter the council chamber seating area, and take some photos in the council seats together and with Member of council Leon himself. He is a friendly and caring person, and someone we should be proud of as a former Sentinel supporting his community.

At last escaping her lips
“How are you?”

A skeptical smile, so pure and truthful
“I’m doing well.”

It all started with a glance
Polar opposites

The Pacific and Atlantic ocean, finally

STUDENT LIFE ADVICE / QUANG HO

Gratitude is the perfect counterpunch to anger and anxiety. When you count your blessings, you will find yourself much happier. Being grateful also helps you see the good things in your circumstances, no matter how bad your situation might seem. If you are thankful for the little positive things, you are bound to grow and explore all the opportunities you can utilize. As high school students, it is effortless to rant about the homework, the people, the teachers, etc. This can overshadow all of the good things that can and will happen if you put in an effort to go to school. For example, in Vietnam, you have to pay for an education. I, Quang Ho, am extremely grateful that education is free here. All of you have this privilege—to go to school and receive majority opportunities without any cost. So then use all of this; don't let the little bad things become boundaries between you and the future that you could achieve.

Research shows that expressing gratitude does increasingly reduce depression, maintains strong social relationships, and even contributes towards positive reactions both mental and physical health. Try doing it at least 15 minutes a day!

Ways on Practicing and Integrating Gratitude into Your Daily Life:

- Place quotes and images around your home that remind you to be grateful
- See your mistakes as an opportunity for growth
- Help others when life treats you well and assist your friends see the bright side of life
- Spend quality time with your loved ones
- Create a gratitude collage by cutting out pictures of everything you are grateful for

TEACHER HIGHLIGHTS / DUY NGUYEN

Mrs. Garcia, our school's ceramics teacher, stands out as an exceptional educator. Her teaching style and kindness create an environment that makes learning not only enjoyable but also incredibly accessible for beginners.

Mrs. Garcia greets each student with a genuine smile, setting the tone for a positive and inclusive learning space. As a beginner-friendly class, she ensures that everyone feels welcome, regardless of their prior experience with ceramics. Mrs. Garcia explains the basics patiently, providing step-by-step guidance that allows each student to grasp the fundamentals at their own pace. Beyond technical skills, Mrs. Garcia encourages us to express our individual creativity, appreciating the unique perspectives of our classmates. What sets Mrs. Garcia apart is her genuine care for each student. She takes the time to understand our aspirations and challenges, offering guidance and encouragement tailored to our individual needs.

I can't help but look back on the meaningful insights gained in Mrs. Garcia's ceramics class. It's more than just about working with clay; it's about discovering the virtues of patience, the strength of community, and the profound impact that a passionate and caring teacher can have. Mrs. Garcia deserves sincere recognition for the influence she has had on her students' lives.

BAND SPECTACULAR / ALYSSA MULDONG

On November 8th, 2023, the Anaheim Union High School District (AUHSD) held its annual performing arts performance, featuring all AUHSD high schools and a junior high honor mass band. The stadium buzzed with excitement as they showcased their talents and musical passions at Glover Stadium. A lively and supportive community formed as the audience cheered for each performance.

Our marching band surprised the spectators with their accessories as well as their display of synchronized movements on the field by wearing blue LED lights in sync. Similarly, our colorguard came in with their beautifully coordinated outfits and flags that matched the band members' LED lights.

Magnolia's ASB, along with Student Ambassador Daniel Santana, attended the event with excited chants to showcase our support and appreciation of what our band and colorguard practiced for multiple months. Through the dedication of the band members and by working together, they showed their musical talents. As the event ended, a selection of band students from all over AUHSD performed in the AUHSD All-Mass Band to conclude Band Spectacular just like any other year, but it was meaningful and a special way to conclude the event for the overall community.

TURKEY TOURNAMENT 2023 / LE THAI

The Turkey Tournament is an annual event hosted by the tennis team at Magnolia High School and in 2023, it was held on November 16th. For those unaware of the event, it is a special ongoing tradition created by the tennis team to raise money, so they can fund for their uniforms and equipment once the season arrives. It not only serves as a fundraising event, but it gives tennis athletes an opportunity to become closer to their teachers and bond with other student-teacher duos through competitive match points. A minimum of 16 pairs is typically required for the tournament to occur, and this year there were a total of 25 pairs that signed up! Once students have asked their desired partner, teachers will usually contribute a donation of $25 to the team and on the day of the tournament, all teachers who have paid will each receive a shirt with the same design to show the collective spirit before the battle gets real. The event is set up similar to CIF's structure, partners would fall in different teams, with names that range from fast food chains to social media platforms, etc., and each year is distinct. This year, there were 5 teams consisting of 5 partners each, and the team names were popular fast food chains. Within each team, each doubles partner will compete against each other at least once and after everyone has gotten a chance to challenge one another, the duo with the most points, their name will be written on the CIF bracket to compete against those that made it to the finale. After everyone has finished, players and spectators will gather around and the winners and losers will be announced by the coaches. Winners will receive a trophy, losers will receive a small gift, usually in the form of lottery tickets, and those that receive these gifts will be the teachers as a way of thanking them for willingly donating to the team and participating in the game. The players will then take a group picture either showing off the gifts or their brightening smiles. In the Spring, when it is the boy's tennis season, there will also be Spring Fling, another tournament, so stay tuned!

DOPPLEGANGER?!

CORDELL CASTRO

In the vividness of Gabriel Cota's life, the connection between his digital prowess and his appreciation for narrative art unfolded unexpectedly. As he delved deeper into gaming and storytelling, another intriguing facet of his personality emerged – a striking resemblance he noticed between himself and Satoru Gojo, a character from the popular anime series, “Jujutsu Kaisen.”

Gabriel couldn't help but draw parallels between his appearance and that of Gojo. The tall stature, the distinctive white hair, and the fashion sense that resonated with the character's stylish attire all contributed to this uncanny resemblance. Embracing the similarities, Gabriel playfully remarked to his friends that he and Gojo could practically be “doppelgängers.”

However, it wasn't just the external similarities that captivated Gabriel; the character's charismatic and enigmatic personality also resonated with him. Gojo, known for his exceptional combat skills and strategic thinking, mirrored some of the qualities that defined Gabriel in the gaming world. The fusion of their strengths in digital realms and a shared sense of style created a unique bond in Gabriel's perception.

Gabriel's friends couldn't help but join in the fun, often teasing him about his "Gojo moments" in both the digital and real world. The connection between the two characters became a source of lighthearted banter, enriching the gaming community's camaraderie.

In the end, Gabriel Cota stood not only as a connoisseur of storytelling but also as a character in his own right – a unique blend of strategic brilliance, a soft spot for captivating narratives, and a playful connection to the animated realms that inspired him.

MAGNOLIA'S CAMPUS POOL READY FOR ACTION /

CITLALI GUTIERREZ & KADEN PHABMIXAY

The students on the swim team walk toward the pool deck at the end of a long school day. What follows are engaging hours of swimming in the newly constructed pool. The new aquatics facilities include outside showers, new diving blocks, and an overall improvement for students. However, the athletes and coaches involved with aquatics weren't always so fortunate.

Ever since the school pool closed for construction before the pandemic, the aquatics department at Magnolia has been out of luck. However, the students' and coaches' passion for their respective sports compelled them to practice any way they could. This involved commuting to neighboring schools like Savanna High School and Loara High School to continue practicing. Despite these setbacks, team members can agree that these challenges have brought them even closer.

A three-year member of the team shared their experience, “We're like a little family and we've had a big impact on each other. I think a big part of our commitment to the team has been our supportive and encouraging coaches. After a long school day, the highlight of my day was the bus ride to Savanna with my coaches and teammates to spend time in the pool in preparation for the next meet. I think having access to the pool will help our team expand and hopefully more students will be interested in joining.”

Another student added, “Once you hit the water it is like you become a new person and you are washed with a sense of freshness”.

First Day at the Newly Renovated Pool

The extra commitment required to participate in aquatics the past few years has made it challenging for students to commit to joining the swim and water polo teams. However, the new access to these aquatic facilities allows Magnolia students more accessibility to participate in these sports. With the upcoming swim season in the spring, students interested in joining the team can contact Ms. Kitchens in room 207 to become informed of practice dates and other important information. If students are also interested in water polo we are having practices at the pool after school please come by and you will be able to meet our team and our coach Tony.

In addition to this, the new and improved pool will also be open to students in P.E. classes during their swim unit, providing more students access to the aquatics facilities.

STUDENT VOICES / STAFF

We went around the school asking students what they would like to see change at Magnolia High School. Some of the responses were expected and some were a bit unexpected

The first student interviewed was a tech savvy named Oscar Flores who is in the Cyber Security program. When asked what he wants to see change at Magnolia, his response was that he “wanted a better lunch for us.” He explained how the Salad Bar is a good step in the right direction but he does not like that when he goes to the lunch line they are always out of salad. Oscar would like it if there was more quantity of the salad as the uncrustables and cheeseburgers never run out.

The second student interviewed was an athlete named Eduardo Peralta who is on the varsity football team at our high school. We asked him what he would like to see change for our school and he said that when he “goes to school there are not many places to sit.” He gave an example that whenever he is at lunch every seat is crowded and if he wants to sit it has to be either in the hot sun or in a classroom. He requests that they make more seats in the shade.

The third and final student interviewed was a scholar named Yoloztin Daniel Ortiz Alvarado who had an interesting response to what he wanted to change for Magnolia. He wanted “the school to take into consideration the schedule.” He explained thoroughly how for one year his schedule kept making him go from one side of the school to the other which was a drag for him daily. He would like it if the counselors made sure that the students did not have to go all over the school everyday.

STUDENT HIGHLIGHTS: Alyssa Muldong, a Smash on the Tennis Court and in the Gaming World / JUSTIN PUERTA

Within the vibrant tapestry of our school community, one student stands out as a true ace both on the tennis court and in the world of Nintendo games. Alyssa Muldong, a force to be reckoned with, effortlessly blends her athletic prowess with a genuine hobby for gaming.

Alyssa's dominance on the tennis court is nothing short of inspiring. As a standout player on the girls' tennis team, she exhibits exceptional skill, dedication, and sportsmanship. Her backhand slices through the air with precision, mirroring her strategic approach to every match. Alyssa's leadership on and off the court makes her a valuable asset to the team, creating a sense of camaraderie that extends beyond the tennis season.

However, there's more to Alyssa than her tennis prowess; she is also a true Nintendo enthusiast. While some students may be captivated by the latest gaming trends, Alyssa's heart belongs to the classics – the Nintendo GameCube and Nintendo 64. Her eyes light up when discussing memorable adventures with Link in "The Legend of Zelda: Ocarina of Time," "The Minish Cap," or engaging in fierce battles in the "Super Smash Bros." series. Alyssa's love for these timeless games adds a unique layer to her multifaceted personality.

In the midst of her rigorous academic school year, Alyssa's ability to balance her commitment to tennis and her love for Nintendo games is nothing short of impressive. Her achievements on the court and in the gaming world reflect her resilience, discipline, and unwavering spirit.

Beyond her athletic and gaming talents, Alyssa is known for her warm, down-to-earth, and inclusive nature. She effortlessly weaves connections with her peers, creating an atmosphere of camaraderie that extends far beyond the confines of the tennis court or gaming console.

In conclusion, Alyssa Muldong is more than a tennis star and a Nintendo aficionado; she is a well-rounded individual who excels in all her athletic pursuits, academics, and leisure activities. Her dedication to tennis, her love for classic Nintendo games all while serving as Editor-In-Chief for Magnolia's Journalism club enrich the fabric of our school community, making her a standout student worthy of admiration. Here's to Alyssa – a true ace in every aspect of life.

JUST ONE CHIP / RYAN GHOURI & EMILIO RODRIGUEZ

The one-chip challenge is one of the hottest chips in the world. It is usually taken by adults or teenagers with ice cream or drinks. This challenge is considered very dangerous and risky towards the user's health, but for those that want a "little spice" in their life to challenge their spice intake. As many people have different levels of spice tolerance, it is not recommended to intake this challenge without supervision and unless fully confident in their spice intake. The One-Chip has two million Scoville heat units consisting of the Carolina Pepper. That is 2x the amount of a Ghost Pepper. Two students share their experience with the One-Chip challenge and are not advised to intake these chips for fun.

The main thing I felt when I ate it was the heat in my mouth and stomach pain. If you want to eat it and not feel it as much, have lots of ice cream as it helps ease the pain a lot which I didn't have. Milk makes the feeling worse and if you have too many drinks you will throw up for sure. I would say that ice cream is pretty easy. The effect lasts around 15-25 minutes which is mostly just the heat wearing off slowly. -Ryan Ghouri

I attempted the one-chip challenge and was left somewhat underwhelmed. The second the chip hit my tongue, I already felt the burn. It spread to my lips and around my mouth and kept intensifying. This lasted for about 10-15 minutes. Eventually, the burning sensation disappeared after a while and I was left with a bad aftertaste of the chip. I had heard from other people that the chip was incredibly hot but I didn't have much of a bad time other than the burning sensation. I would give it a 7.5/10 but wouldn't recommend it since someone might have a different reaction to it. - Emilio Rodriguez
